

Audrey Thomas is the Owner of Organized Audrey and Lean Offices dot com. As a national speaker, she is passionate about transferring skills to others so they can learn how to become better organized and make life-lasting improvements.

She has been organizing since she was a young girl. When others were playing house, she was pretending to set up files on a make-shift desk.

Serving the National Speakers Association-Minnesota as Past President, she is also a member of the American Society of Training and Development. She is a recognized expert in the organization field having been nominated for the prestigious Founders' Award of the National Association of Professional Organizers.

Audrey has authored several books, including 50 Ways to Leave Your Clutter, and Getting Organized with Microsoft® Outlook. She has served as a company spokesperson and consultant for companies such as Rubbermaid, Rolodex, Smead and 3M.

Audrey lives in Minneapolis with her husband and recently became an empty nester. Her hobbies include gardening, scrap-booking and deleting emails.

Please help me welcome Organized Audrey.
